

The Way I Feel For You
Kate Power ©2012

I wish I had the power; I would if I could
Try to discover a new way to put,
One word to uncover what words never could,
The way I feel for you

No stormy weather, no bottomless sea
Could hold one note from this sweet melody
No word ever spoken, nor sung before me
The way I feel for you

Nobody, no man, no beast, no baby
By happenstance chanced to hear it
Heard by not anyone, anywhere, anyhow
Before this, not even near it

Flying, the letters right off of the pen
There in the ether, forever no end
In a world without war, in a world without end
Indescribably easy to see

One little look, and I know it's not there
Not a word in a book exists anywhere
Beginning to end, begins to compare with
The way I feel for you